

We're back

This is the first issue of the Quinte Scanner since publication was suspended January 29, 1975.

The Scanner was unable to continue publishing when advertising revenue failed to meet production costs. We are confident that advertising from local merchants combined with the support of Bay of Quinte residents will allow the paper to grow and improve.

Many people have told us they have missed the Scanner for the last four months. We feel the Bay of Quinte region needs an independent paper to report the news of the smaller communities in this area. If you agree, we urge you to support both the Scanner and the advertisers who make its publication possible.

Local business is the backbone of any community. By buying from local merchants whenever possible, you are benefiting both yourself and the community as a whole.

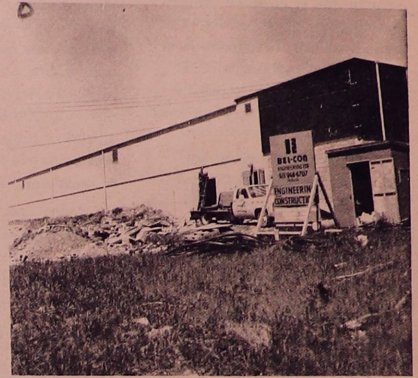

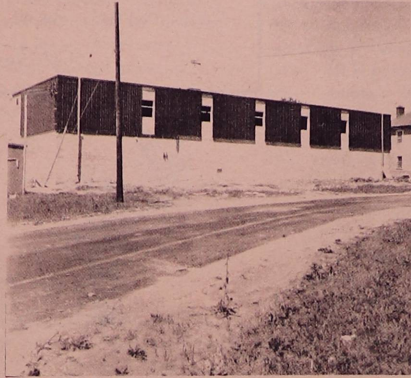

The paper will continue to concentrate on local news through columns like Happenings by Mrs. Kay Hood. In addition we will be bringing reader's a regular column of reservation news written by Mrs. Eva Maracle.

We are anxious to report the news from all the surrounding communities. If you would be interested in serving as the correspondent for your area, please contact the Scanner office.

There is also a need for news from the various clubs in the area. We would especially appreciate news of the activities and interests of young adults. We hope to have a section of the paper reserved for and produced by our readers under 20 years of age.

We will continue the paper's policy of printing the news as it is told to us, not the way we interpret it. If you have an opinion on something of interest to the community, we will publish it, whether or not we agree with you.

We invite you all to be a part of and a subscriber to the Quinte Scanner.

The Community Centre, now near completion, will be the site of a variety of activities.

COMMUNITY CENTRE

Completion date approaches

The new Deseronto and District Community Centre is now 90 percent completed according to Recreation Director and Arena Manager Jack Layfield.

Mr. Layfield, who was appointed to his position by Deseronto Town Council in February, said completion is scheduled for the end of June. An open house is planned for late July or early August with the official opening in the fall when the ice is in.

The community centre got its start in 1969 with the formation of a recreation committee by town council. The initial recreation budget was used to construct the outdoor facilities on Edmon Street. The original proposal brought to council was to build a community centre in three steps; the outdoor facilities for immediate use, the building itself and the artificial ice.

Although fund raising has been carried on since 1969, it really got rolling in 1971. The Harry Hatch family, who used to live in Deseronto, made an initial contribution of $6,000.

Funding also has been provided by the Community Centre Grant of $100,000, the Winter Capital Project Fund and the Town of Deseronto. The Capital Project Fund allowed for a loan of $150,000, a good portion of which is forgivable. Deseronto has contributed approximately $23,000 to the building fund. Any additional costs not covered by the Fund Raising Committee will probably be debentured. The Recreation Committee has Municipal Board approval for up to $100,000 in debentures.

Mr. Layfield said the fund raising committee, which has collected about $45,000 has "made tremendous headway in the last two years". He credits many people for the successful fund raising, especially the present committee chairman, Clarence Zieman.

"Clarence has kept things rolling, kept the committee together and maintained a steady stream of fund raising activities", Mr. Layfield said.

A number of social and athletic activities are planned for the centre. The main requirement for all of them being participation and responsible organization.

The Minor Hockey Committee headed by Jack's oldest son Dennis is developing a program for area boys interested in playing hockey. Initially playing time will be used for house league for the various age groups. Players will be drawn from the Reserve, the townships of Sophiesburg, Tyendinaga and Richmond as well as Deseronto.

The Recreation Committee has held preliminary discussions about curling and ice time has been tentatively scheduled for the fall. Mr. Layfield said that, as with any activity, participation and proper supervision will determine the success of the program.

"Whether curling does or doesn't go will depend on the number of interested curlers in the town and whether or not they can get organized. They are going to have to get organized and come back to me with their requirements by early fall," he said.

There has also been some discussion about figure skating lessons. This too will require people who are willing to take responsibility.

"We have to have responsible supervision before we can say we're going to have figure skating. In Deseronto we've never had anyone responsible for recreation other than volunteers and we've certainly never had proper facilities. So we are going to need a lot of effort and volunteer assistance," Mr. Layfield said.

There is also a possibility of organized lacrosse, tennis and floor hockey. The Recreation Committee is working to establish

Editorial

The editorial column will be a regular feature of The Quinte Scanner, dealing with issues and people in the Quinte area.

This column will be truthful, as accurate as possible and will be the only place where the opinions of the editor will be expressed. The stories and features in the paper will be written in a straightforward manner exactly as they are told to us.

Space will be provided for readers to comment on editorials or any story which appears in the paper. If there are two sides to a story we will try to give both sides equal prominence.

We feel letters from our readers are important if we are to show the concerns and opinions of people in this area. You now have a place where you can share your ideas with your neighbours and we hope you will use it.

Our editorial position is a simple one, we are in favour of anything which or anybody who will benefit this area and its people. Often small communities like ours get overlooked in the trend towards ever larger cities. It is up to all of us to see that we are given our due recognition as an equal partner in Canada's growth.

At the same time, it is equally important to preserve the traditions and beauty that is unique to the Bay of Quinte area. Our land is our most valuable asset surpassed only by the people who live and work on it.

It has been our pleasure to meet a number of people in our short time here and we hope to get to know many more in the near future. This area is fortunate to have both a proud history and the people to make a bright future. Space permits us to mention only a few of these people.

Many area residents like Mrs. Kay Hood and Mrs. Eva Maracle give both time and energy to keep their neighbours informed about local activities.

Melville Hill, a man justifiably proud of his heritage, works hard with very little recognition to provide a showcase for the history of his people. Jack Layfield has dedicated himself to the improvement of recreation facilities for Deseronto and the surrounding area.

Last, but by no means least, there is Orville Greenbush. A man with a good heart who still sees every day as an adventure despite his advance age. Orville would make an English teacher cry and he will probably give me an ulcer, but just between us I wouldn't change a thing about him. Well, maybe just a few changes in his grammar.

...Centre will have a social side lish tennis courts in the public school area. They hope to develop outdoor courts on arena property and if there is sufficient demand, indoor courts.

"The indication is that 80 area children want to play tennis and this has been endorsed by their parents. We have four women who are willing to supervise," Mr. Layfield said. "As for floor hockey, it should be a natural because the kids are playing it at school. They're familiar with it, they play it on the roads, anywhere they can play it. It could operate much the same as minor hockey," he said.

On the social side, the centre will be available for dances and possibly bingo and card parties. The centre will book attractions of interest to area people such as circuses.

The Recreation Committee is currently conducting a gymnastics program using the school facilities and it is running smoothly under qualified instruction. There is also a baseball program which is being supervised by Steve Hefferman. The teams are looking for adults to act as coaches, team managers and to provide transportation for the midget team.

Mr. Layfield made an appeal for volunteer assistance with the various programs.

"With all these possible activities, it means that now we have the facilities we need the people. There are a lot of sports minded individuals in town, it's just a matter of finding them and getting them interested.

If someone in the area has a pet project they feel there is sufficient interest in, we'd like to hear about it. But we'd also like them to take the bull by the horns and organize and supervise it," he said.

EDITOR'S NOTE- Any one interested in organizing an activity at the centre can run a small notice in the Scanner without charge.

Report from Town Council

A written request from Mohawk Chief William J. Brant for use of the town's water system as an emergency source for the reservation fire truck was one of several items put before the Town Council on June 2.

In answer to Chief Brant's letter, Mayor Dickinson said he anticipated responsibility of the town's water system being turned over to the province, making it necessary to refer such an arrangement to the Public Utilities Commission.

Also received was a request from the Secretary-Treasurer of the Library board for further repairs to be made to the library ceiling. This was referred to the Property Committee for consideration. With the request came a reminder that due to lack of funds the library must be closed for the two weeks of July 15-29. During this time however, the Library board suggested the premises be totally cleaned.

In the reading of the minutes of the May 20 meeting, Clerk-Treasurer Sam Knapp announced that a grant of $5,000 had been received from Hastings County for the community centre. At that meeting, the council also decided there would be no objection to the centre obtaining a liquor licence from the LLBO for special occasions. In a meeting May 22, council also approved a wage increase for the town's two school crossing guards.

In the reports from the various committees represented Monday night, Councillor Bernie Johnston, for Deputy-Reeve Terry Whalen, congratulated the council on the fine results of the town's spring clean-up.

Mayor Dickinson noted however, there still areas needing attention and that property owners should place trash which is intended for pick-up, on the street.

Councillor Johnston reported from the Recreational Committee that a second date for the cancelled May 31 Bike-a-thon will be scheduled. Proceeds go to the community centre. He also announced that the committee has received permission from owners to consider several vacant lots for recreational purposes. One lot now being looked at is a portion of the Canada Optical property, traditionally known as the Old Wood Lot.

In his report from the Property Committee, Councillor Jack Mitchell told council members that a town-owned lot consisting of 2.2 acres at the north end of the old high school, between Brant and College streets and south of Dundas St. would be divided into 10 lots. The recommendation that the serviced lots, each 67 ft. x 132 ft. be sold for $7,000 was accepted by members 5-2.

The next meeting of the town council will be June 16.

The federal Agriculture Department move to chemically kill gypsy moths in the Kingston-Pittsburgh township area was termed wasteful by a Queens University biologist, Dr. Rudolf Harmsen.

The moths which are spreading to Canada from the United States via Wolfe Island, strip trees of their leaves for a week or so and then disappear. The leaves, however, usually grow back.

Mr. Harmsen says what the Agriculture Department calls an infestation is merely a nuisance and spraying should not be started before a public inquiry can weigh the harm from the chemical against any benefit.

The chemical also kills bees, caterpillars and other insects, upsetting the balance of nature.

MOHAWK SUNDAY

Ceremony re-enacts first landing

The final scene of the Mohawk Sunday tradition takes place at Christ Church.

A commemorative plaque was placed to mark the sight of the first landing in 1784.

The annual commemoration of the Mohawk people's landing in the Bay of Quinte area drew a crowd of over 500 on May 25.

Traditionally called Mohawk Sunday, the ceremony re-enacts the landing of a group led by John Deserontyou nearly 200 years ago in 1784.

A birch-bark canoe is carried from the shore and overturned in front of a commemorative cairn marking the spot of the first landing. On the canoe is spread the Queen Anne communion service, perhaps the oldest and most valuable silver in Canada today.

The communion service was given by Queen Anne in 1710 to four Chiefs of the Five Nations Confederacy. The Chiefs, from the Mohawk Valley in present-day New York State, visited England, seeking approval for missionaries to be sent to them and a fort and a chapel to be built. After the chapel was accordingly built in 1711, Queen Anne sent a number of gifts including a communion table, altar cloths, bibles and the seven-piece communion service consisting of two flagons, two chalices, two patens and an alms basin.

Each piece is inscribed and bears the date letter of 1711. During the American Revolution, the silver was buried for safe-keeping and remained there until long after the war ended. The members of the Six Nations Confederacy who had remained loyal to Britain were forced to leave the Mohawk Valley and move to Lachine, Que. where they remained for seven years.

During this time Captains Joseph Brant and John Deserontyou began negotiating for new lands for their people. Brant chose the Grand River area around present-day Brantford and Deserontyou decided on the Bay of Quinte area. Before leaving Lachine in 1784, the silver was recovered and equally divided between the two bands. The Grand River Indians being the larger group received the only alms basin in the set.

Today, the silver is used at least three times a year at Christmas, Easter and Mohawk Sunday.

As the guest speaker, the Rt. Rev. Henry Hill said at this year's ceremony, the Mohawk people should be proud of their forefather's traditions.

Mohawks in traditional dress carry the bark canoe to cairn sight for ceremony.

Chief Joseph Brant places the Queen Anne Silver on the overturned canoe at cairn.

Arnold Brant Sr. led the crowd of over 500 in the Prayer of Thanksgiving.

Profile

Interest in history leads to collection

Melville Hill, the Land and Research worker for the Tyendinaga Reserve, has built up a collection of crafts, artifacts and historical data that offers a unique insight into the Indian culture.

Mr. Hill, when he isn't trying to solve land problems on the reserve, has dedicated his time to compiling a history of his people. Included in his miniature museum, which occupies much of his house, are pictures of people who played a prominent role in the Mohawk community, such as the Elected Chiefs and the local ministry. There are also many items that were important in the everyday life of the Indian, including a birch bark canoe suspended from the ceiling. The canoe was a gift from a friend, Scotty Campbell who had bought it before the second war for $15.00.

The collection was actually started by Mr. Hill's mother who had kept the pictures of the ministers on the reserve. Mr. Hill became interested after he returned from World War II in which he served with a unit of the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Mr. Hill said that he has always been interested in Indian history and he developed that interest during his travels with the Minister of Lands and Forests. On his visits to Indian communities, he would buy various examples of the local people's handicraft. His collection was also increased through donations and items picked up from the dump.

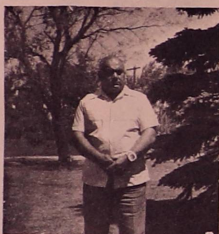

"I've always been interested in Indian history. What I was most interested in was Dr. Oranhyatekha because he was such a famous man. He was called 'the smartest man of his time' by Sir John A. MacDonald. I did research on the doctor at the Independent Order of Foresters' office in Toronto, covering the years when he was Supreme Chief Ranger," Mr. Hill said.

Dr. Oranhyatekha, whose English name was Peter Martin, was born on the Six Nations Reserve in Brantford. At the request of the Prince of Wales he was sent to England to be educated. Before his death in 1907 he practised medicine in Napanee, Frankford and London, Ontario.

Mr. Hill is concerned about both the safety and fate of his collection. He worries about his collection being destroyed by fire and wonders who will carry on his work after he is gone.

"I'm hoping, before I die, to have a proper cement fire-proof building erected. I had hoped that a building for a museum and library would be built in centennial year. Since then they have gathered a good source of Indian history in the school library, but we still need a museum.

I hope some of the young people on the reserve will be interested in maintaining my collection. I've noticed the younger children are getting more interested since they started teaching the Mohawk language at the school. They call me up and want to see my collection. I think they're on the right track," he said.

Mr. Hill also hopes to collaborate on a book on the history of his tribe. He said that most books tend to emphasize the progress of the Indian rather than their history. In his opinion the interpretation of Indian history taught in schools is not given any prominence at all.

"I would like to go right back and find out what they (the Mohawks) lived like in New York state before they came here. I don't want to make any changes, I just want to get the truth. There's been a lot written, some of it true and some not. It's been taught that Indians were just savages. It doesn't tell what our people did for the country, like in the battles of 1759 and 1812.

Our forefathers were good farmers in the Mohawk Valley, they had fine orchards. The Chiefs were given land in Canada to compensate for the large farms they gave up when they left the United States," Mr. Hill said.

The Mohawks continuing loyalty to Britain is probably the outstanding feature of their history. Mr. Hill feels people on the reserve should be aware of this and other aspects of their history.

"Our loyalty to the British Crown was done so easily. The four Chiefs went over to England in 1710 and had an audience with Queen Anne. They wanted to see the strength of the British army and navy and also pledge their allegiance to the Crown. The Mohawks have never broke away from that pledge.

History gives us a link to the past and ours is a proud history. We should be able to go the another reserve and tell them of our accomplishments. If our people were more knowledgeable of our history it would benefit them quite a bit," he said.

Mr. Hill said he may lose his job as Land and Research worker which is a political appointment. If he does he will return to his trade of carpenter. But, no matter what he does, he will probably go on adding to his collection and studying the history of his people.

ANNIVERSARY

Church Reaches Fifty Years

The United Church congregation in Deseronto, now ministered to by Bob and Bev Thompson celebrated the 50th Anniversary of the United Church of Canada with two services on Sunday.

There were two guest preachers on Sunday, Rev. H. A. Servage, 1959-60 and 1963-64 and Rev. Wesley Neelands, minister from 1952-59, who spoke in the evening.

A pie social on Tuesday was also included in the celebration.

The social was highlighted by skits, music and pies prepared by the United Church Women. An exhibit depicting the history of the Church is on display in Stover Hall.

The history of the United Church in Deseronto, which developed from the union of the Presbyterian and Congregationalists with the Methodist Church of Canada in 1925, dates back to the 1860's, when the town was known as Mill Point.

In the early sixties, ministers from the Wesleyan Methodist church from the Shannonville circuit began preaching in Deseronto. Soon after a Union Church was built and used for services by the Wesleyan Methodists, Anglicans and Presbyterians.

Shortly after the coming of the Wesleyan preachers, the Rev. Mr. Barnett introduced the Episcopal faith to the area. In 1876 Messrs. Hall and Wagar, Evangelists, conducted a series of meetings in a temporary tabernacle erected on the north-east corner of Thomas and Centre Streets.

The success of these meetings resulted in the building of the present church at the corner of Fourth and Thomas Streets. Rev. Shorts was the Pastor when the Church was built. The Pastor when the Wesleyans, Episcopal, New Connections (or Bible Christians) and Primitive Methodists formed the Methodist Church of Canada in 1884, was Rev. Mallory.

In 1884 the value of the Church property was estimated at $4,500. The minutes of August 1884 show that Rev. H. Williams had been succeeded by Rev. D.O. Crossley. At the same meeting Christopher Cronk was appointed sexton at a salary of $78 per year.

The membership of the church increased steadily from 233 in 1885 to 342 in 1894 with an additional 100 members on trial. In 1905 the Pastor, Rev. A.J. Strike was voted a salary of $1,000 per year. The Board of Stewards in that year was A. Oliver, Geo. Gonyou, Chas. Wagar, E. Fichett, Fred Cook, Percy Stover and Dr. E.D. Vandervoort.

After the union in 1925 the Church was expanded to hold the ever-growing congregation. One of the members of the Committee on Church Union was Rev. F.H. Howard, father of Mrs. Margaret Cole, grandfather of Mary Hird and great-grandfather of Mary, Jodie and Chuck Hird. In 1930 the congregation was reorganized according to the Constitution of the United Church as set forth in the Basis of Union.

A number of Pastors served the church from 1930 to 1960, among these were: Rev. W.D. Harrison, 1930; Rev. A.H. Hoare, 1932; Rev. H.A. Bunt, 1936; Rev. T.F. Townsend, 1947; Rev. C.W. Neelands, 1952. In 1961 Deseronto joined Morven and Forth line for a five year period and Rev. Douglas Blair was inducted as full-time minister.

In 1962 all Women's Organizations of the United Church became known as "United Church Women". The first president in Deseronto was Mrs. G. Rendell. In 1963 a Christian Education Committee was formed with William Kells serving as Chairman.

Taxes Up

The following is a public notice from the office of S.E. Knapp, Clerk-Treasurer, Town of Dereronto.

The Mill Rates for 1975 of: 149.67 mills Residential Public and 172.38 mills Commercial and Industrial Public are up 31.87 mills (27%) and 23.72 mills (6%) respectively over 1974 which co-incidentally, are almost identical to the mill rates struck for the year 1972 of: 150.04 Res. and 170.79 Comm. and Indust. In 1973 and 1974 taxes were reduced by 17% and 5% respectively due to the increased Provincial Assistance by way of two new grants and this still holds for this year, however, the County of Hastings' rate this year jumped 30 mills (78%) and Education rates are up 7.5 mills (18%); the Town's rate for General Purposes although up in Net dollars by $5,200 over 1974, is down in mill rates by 4.9 Residential and 20.06 mills Commercial, because of increased assessment ($24,000) and a new formula for calculating millrates this year.

On a typical residential assessment of $2,000.00 the taxes for 1975 will be $299.34 whereas they were only $235.60 in 1974, an increase of $63.74 in 1975.

Residents should not overlook the "Ontario Tax Credit" factor on the Income Tax Returns either.

Grant awarded to Public Library

A $500 Reading Stimulation Grant awarded to the Deseronto Public Library will be like a vitamin shot to the young reader's section of the library.

The cheque, which will be presented to librarian Stella Carney on, as yet, an unannounced date, was awarded by the Canadian Federation of University Women. The federation annually donates one $1,000 grant or two $500 grants to small libraries, with or working under a qualified librarian, in a regional system, and operating on a small budget.

The award came as a very pleasant surprise to Mrs. Carney who discovered the availability of the grant while looking through library journals. She immediately submitted a required detailed list showing what material would be bought with the money, categorizing them into areas such as picture books, poetry, folklore and Canadiana.

In a letter notifying Mrs. Carney of the grant, the federation termed her choice of books as excellent.

The regional library in turn, has offered to order the new books and catalog them, all part of a free service under the regional system.

The grant will be used to update and improve the children's section of the library by sorting through and replacing books that could not be discarded before, due to lack of funds.

"A lot of the books are old and in very bad condition and but for a lack of funds would have been weeded out before now. We will replace some old, worn out books with newer copies of the same and also order more modern books. Of course, the classic children's books will be replaced," says Mrs. Carney.

She is confident that the new books will be put to good use and appeal to both the pre-schoolers and older children.

"The little children, especially are using the library more and more. We were lent

Librarian Mrs. Stella Carney and assistant Brenda Lawlor will help children to use the new books bought with the grant.

30 picture-books from the regional library in January and they are going out all the time. So far sure, the new books bought with the grant will be used," says Mrs. Carney.

She is also pleased to see the school-age children using the library more for reference and study.

Also in her efforts to initiate youngsters into reading, Mrs. Carney, a graduate of the University of Toronto Library School and University College, Dublin, has been conducting a story-hour for pre-schoolers since early May. Although discontinued for June, the story-hour drew an average of twelve 4-6 year-olds every Friday. Twenty minutes was spent listening to a story, while the remaining time belonged to the youngsters to look through and understand the books for themselves.

"I feel it is necessary to expose children to the art of the picture book because it is what makes future readers," she says, "I am willing to carry on the sessions during the summer months at whatever hour the mothers wish, but I will leave it up to them to contact me."

Mrs. Carney, who became Deseronto's librarian in January, 1975, also has some long-range plans for the library as a whole.

"I am trying to build-up a document file of government information that the library gets free and could be very helpful to high school students who are taking home economic or environmental courses, for example. I am also recording any articles now being written on the history of Deseronto. We would appreciate having any old information too because we are really the only place in Deseronto to keep archives."

A dedicated librarian herself Mrs. Carney says the already fine quality of the library is a result of the "tremendous amount of work" put in by her two predecessors.

"Mrs. Dorothy McCulloch was librarian for 19 years, working under very primitive conditions to say the least. I took over from Mrs. H. Tunnicliffe who was here for 22 years and the quality of the library owes its praise to them."

The Deseronto Public Library is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Report from Town Council

Les Jones, a representative of the Ontario Housing Corp., attended Monday's meeting of Town Council to finalize plans for a senior citizen apartment to be built in Deseronto.

The rent for the 34, one-bedroom apartments will be geared to the tenant's income. Mr. Jones said tenders will be called before the end of the month. He said construction should start on the site, the old outdoor rink between Edmon and Thomas Streets, in about two months.

Council passed a motion approving the construction of the apartment and agreeing to contribute 7 1/2 percent of any operating loss. A letter from the Ministry of Housing was also read. It stated that a survey had determined no need for rent geared to income housing for families in Deseronto at this time.

A presentation was also made to council on behalf of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 280, Deseronto. Sam Clark and Ron Loader, representing the Legion, requested a continuation of their tax status of the last ten years.

"We are as much a part of this town as this building is. Our efforts on behalf of the community in the past are well known and we hope to have more in the future. We feel this amount of taxation will restrict our efforts in the future, although we had hoped to extend them. We would like our taxes continued on as they have been in the past ten years," Mr. Clark said.

Sam Knapp, Town Clerk, reported that the budget and mill rate have long been struck and any concessions would be difficult at this date. He said council was bound by the Municipal Act covering any rebates Council voted to put the matter before a committee of the whole

Our first edition is history and it is time to express an opinion on some items of concern.

A number of local families are suffering from the closing of the Ideal Venders plant and the resulting loss of work. Many of the people who now find themselves out of work were long-time employees who will find it difficult to find new jobs. Some of the younger ex-employees may be forced to move away in search of work.

To those who remain, the loss of these people will be felt in a number of ways. Most importantly, for some it could mean the separation of a son, daughter or close personal friend. Our community will suffer the loss of people who would have contributed to our growth and supported our vital services through their taxes.

Local business will also be deprived of the revenue generated by these people.

Efforts have been made to interest manufacturers in the plant, but to date there has been no report of a buyer. The plant offers too valuable a manufacturing opportunity to sit vacant for very long.

We are confident that our elected officials realize the importance of making jobs available in our area. We would urge our representatives in the three levels of government to work with the owner to sell the plant. The owner is undoubtedly anxious to sell and we are anxious to see the plant back in operation.

from a Kingston OFY drama group called "Kolass Snooze" requesting use of electrical outlets in Centennial Park. The eight member drama group will present performance workshops in the park the week of June 29 to July 5.

A letter was also received from a Mill Street resident requesting a clean-up of neighbouring lots. The letter stated that the vacant lot north of his property was overgrown with weeds and the houses on the south and east were both fire-traps. Following discussion of the jurisdiction involved in this matter, council agreed that available by-laws should be enforced. Reeve Lyons volunteered to contact the county building inspector and the Streets Committee will attend to the lot.

Councillor Johnson reported proceeds from the first Deseronto Recreation Centre Lottery in the amount of $295. He said tickets for the second draw, August 15, are selling well. He also reported the previously scheduled Bike-a-thon will be held June 21. The bikes will leave from the town park at 8:30 A.M.

Rates for the new arena were also announced. Prime ice time will cost $25.00 per hour. The other rates are: non prime time and minor hockey, $20.00 per hour; rental of arena floor, $85.00 a day with an additional $50.00 for use of the kitchen hall, rental for special occasions using bar facilities, $150.00. Pleasure skating will cost 35¢ for children and 75¢ for adults and teenagers.

Retain licence consent form

Ministry of Transportation and Communications officials are concerned that a number of drivers have in error detached the organ donor consent forms from their new Ontario drivers' licences and mailed them to Queen's Park.

The consent forms should remain attached to/or kept with the driver's licence once it has been completed and signed.

Motorists who have mailed completed consent forms to the Ministry should obtain replacement forms from any MTC Driver Examination Centre, District or Regional Office of the Drivers and Vehicles Division.

Motorists who would like to obtain separate donor forms for themselves or other members of the family can obtain these forms from their local MTC Drivers and Vehicles Office.

HAPPENINGS

BY Mrs. Kay Hood

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid and W.M.S. held a meeting on Monday evening, June 9, at the home of the president, Mrs. Jean Griffiths. There were nine members present and roll call answered with each persons favourite hymn. Treasurers report was given and showed a substantial balance. It was moved all bills, be paid.

Correspondence was read, including an invitation to the U.C.W. meeting on June 19. Several members said they would go. Everyone worked on something for the bazaar.

After a discussion it was decided to hold the Christmas bazaar on Dec. 6, 1975 at the Napanee Mall, with the usual gifts and bake table. A tea may be held at the church on another date, further plans to be made in September. No meetings July and August. Mrs. Blake Moore led in the singing of sacred songs. While tea was being served by the hostess, Mrs. Kay Hood showed pictures she had taken and articles of Indian bead work etc, she brought back with her from her trip to the north.

The Church of the Redeemer congregation and Sunday School picnic will be held at Zwick's Island Park, Belleville, on June 28, 1975, weather permitting.

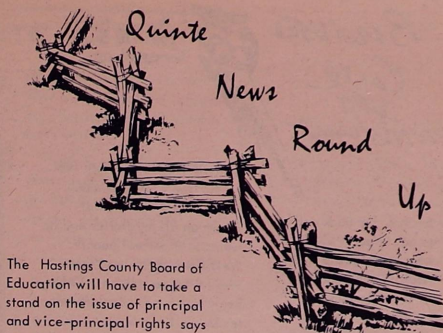

Mr. Al Reed, Mrs. Kay Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mac Millan and friends from Marcy, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oter, attended "Folklore" weekend in Kingston on Saturday. While at the Scottish hall, Mr. Reed had a surprise when two Rob Roy pipers piped in his granddaughter Kim Barbier and Mrs. Janet Harpell, carrying a lovely birthday cake in honour of his 85th birthday. His daughters, Mrs. Violet Barbier and Mrs. Kay Hood escorted him to the table, where Kim helped him to cut the cake and blow out the candles. Everyone joined in the singing of Happy Birthday. Kim is a member of the Rob Roy Highland dancers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson and Raymond and Tammy of Downsview, spent the weekend with their mothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whiteman of Midland spent the weekend of June 8, with Mr. Whiteman's sister, Mrs. Lottie Anderson and attended the memorial service at Lonsdale. Dr. Jean Toews and Hank of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vanalstyne of Trenton were Saturday evening guests of Mrs. Lottie Anderson.

Young people of St. Marks Anglican Church arranged and conducted a service on Sunday, evening, June 15. Some of those involved were Chris Hunter, Lucy Johnson and Bill Maddox who played the organ prelude. Such a successful evening will be repeated.

The Old Timers of Deseronto decided at their recent meeting to charter a bus for a trip to Ontario Place on June 25. Also to start off Senior Citizens Week, the club attended the services at the Pentecostal Hall on June 15. The club now has 90 paid-up members which includes 49 star members.

The Hastings County Board of Education will have to take a stand on the issue of principal and vice-principal rights says its vice-chairman Miriam Graham. A questionnaire from the Ontario Public School Trustees Assn. is being circulated to each board of education requesting their response to the new proposed legislation allow principals and vice-principals to join their respective federations but not the right to strike like fellow teachers.

The Social Credit Party plans to hold both its federal and provincial annual convention in Belleville this fall. Floyd Hawley of Shannonville and first vice-president of the party's Ontario branch will be one of two persons to select the actual site.

The restored chancel at the Prince Edward County Museum in the former St. Mary Magdalene Church is to be named in memory of the late H. J. McFarland on June 28. The chancel area will be named for Mr. McFarland who was mayor of Pictou for 20 years, by the former Prime-Minister John Diefenbaker.

New officers inducted at Lions club dinner

The annual Deseronto Lions Club Dinner and Dance on Wednesday, June 11 was a great success, especially if you happened to be a lady.

It was the gals' night off while the men barbequed a delicious steak dinner, served and cleared the tables as well.

During dinner, Harold Calver did a fine job of twisting member's tails for funds needed to send club delegates to conventions.

More importantly, was the induction of the club's new officers. They are as follows: Lion-tamer- Tom Doyle; Tail-twister - George Cole; 1st Year Directors- Don Pringle and Merv Sherman; 2nd Year Directors- Gerry Lot and Jim Gay-lord; Vice-presidents- Doug

Sterling and Gerald Lawlor; Treasurer- Roger Cole; Secretary- Vern Boomhower; President- Jack Hamilton

After dinner, in an effort to raise money to finance cub camp, a Chinese auction was held. Club member Carl Beattie showed the forceful side of his nature by "brow-beating" guests, including his wife, into bidding for an unknown prize. Dr. Douglas Meredith was the lucky winner of the gift and Gerald Lawlor, as cub master received $32.50 for the camp.

Approximately 75 people enjoyed the dinner and even more arrived for the dance later in the evening.

Bernie Johnston acted as disc-jockey, choosing music that got even the shy ones up.

A steak dinner in the making.

New officers receive their posts.

Members of the head table conducted the ceremony.

All ages danced up a storm at the Lions Club Dinner on June 11.

Lamprey menace attacked

Teams from Environment Canada's Control Centre are attempting to destroy sea lampreys, a notorious fish mutilator, in the Ontario and New York streams entering Lake Ontario.

Six years ago, anglers fishing on the shores of the Credit River in the Toronto area were pulling out coho salmon with chunks torn from their sides, victims of sea lamprey that had entered from Lake Ontario.

Of the several hundred coho examined in the Credit in 1969 by Ontario biologists, only one escaped unscarred.

Sea lamprey have been in the Great Lakes for centuries, preying mainly on lake trout. But it took the introduction of a new delicacy, the coho salmon being experimentally stocked, to trigger the destruction of the lamprey menace in earnest.

In 1971 the federal government's Control Centre moved into Lake Ontario and treated all 23 known sea lamprey producing streams with lampricide. The program continues.

Dr. Jim Tibbles, Director of the Sea Lamprey Control Centre named Duffin, Lynde, Oshawa and Grafton creeks, and the Salmon River, as the Ontario streams receiving treatment this year.

Treatments are administered by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission with funds provided by the Canadian and United States governments.

BASEBALL

By George Barker

On behalf of all sports-minded citizens I would like to welcome the Quinte Scanner back into circulation.

I plan to cover and write on various sporting events for the Scanner and I would appreciate the help of all managers and coaches at all levels of the various sports. If you have any scores or information that will help me get your favourite sport into the column, please get in touch with me anytime.

E.O.B.A. MIDGET BASEBALL

The 1974 Midget D Champions have lost all their games but one this year. However, without making a lot of excuses, the losses were against powerhouse teams such as Oshawa and Kingston. Their one victory was a 9-3 score against a team from Thurlow, which is in the same class as our own squad. This certainly proves Deseronto boys are above par in their own class. The Midgets travelled to Oshawa last Saturday for a 1 PM. encounter but lost 15-4. The Royals now have a record of one win and six losses.

Couple celebrates 55 years together

On June 18 Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Kelly, 313 Main St., Deseronto, celebrated 55 years of marriage.

Their anniversary brought good wishes and special congratulations from government officials as well as from their many friends and relatives.

Governor General and Madame Legger sent a telegram offering their warmest congratulations. Prime Minister Trudeau sent the couple a certificate for framing expressing "Heartiest congratulations and very best wishes" on behalf of Canada.

Premier William Davis and Clarke Rollins, MPP Hastings-Peterborough presented them with a plaque. They also sent a note that said in part, "It is our hope you will enjoy the years to come in good health and much happiness."

The couple exchanged special gifts and Mr. Kelly gave his wife a beautiful corsage which she wore for their anniversary dinner at the Campbell House, Napanee. They were joined for their celebration by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shea Jr. The dinner was highlighted by an anniversary cake presented by the proprietors.

Mr. Kelly retired from Gibbard Furniture Shops Ltd. eight years ago following 44 years of service with the company. The couple lived on York St., Napanee before moving to Deseronto five years ago.

The Kellys have six children, 11 grand-children and six great-grand children. Their children are Mrs. Irene Martin, Mrs. Vera Brooks and Mrs. Joan Shea Jr., all of Deseronto. Sons are Sam Jr. and Neil of Napanee and Jim of Fort Erie.

Easter seal campaign sends kids to camp

This summer, more than 1,000 of Ontario's handicapped children will enjoy a two-week vacation away from the demands and confines of treatment centres, at one of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children's five camps. It is the largest camping program of its kind in the world.

Merrywood Camp, for example, with its 23 permanent buildings on a 30-acre lakefront setting has been used by crippled children since 1948. The camp is located on Rideau Lake off Highway 43 at Port Elmsley, midway between Perth and Smiths Falls.

Activities are designed to encourage the active rehabilitation of each camper both physically and emotionally in stimulating surroundings and special emphasis is placed on individual participation in these activities.

The annual Easter Seal campaign supports the camping program and any one interested in seeing how their contributions are used can attend the Society's open house at Merrywood Camp on Sunday, July 6, between 2:30 and 5:30 PM.

Cadet James Gordanier with friend Marg Erskine, Deseronto Legion.

Sea Cadet boards ice-breaker

James Gordanier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derek Gordanier of 233 Dundas St., Deseronto, left June 19 for the east coast where he will board the ice-breaker Sir John A. MacDonald.

James, a member of the Deseronto-Napanee Core, was one of four Royal Canadian Sea Cadets from across Canada selected to take part in the nine week voyage.

The other three cadets are from the Prairies, Saulte St. Marie and the Maritimes.

The ship will travel as far north as Ellesmere Island in the North Atlantic, before returning to port.

Presqu'île offers 2,200 nature acres

If you're more than just a camper and looking for a vacation spot within easy distance of home, a good place to try is Presqu'île Provincial Park on Lake Ontario near Brighton.

One of eastern Ontario's natural environment parks, Presqu'île offers 2,200 acres of outstanding recreational, natural and historical features. Development has been kept to a moderate level in order to protect and preserve valuable park resources and the natural quality of the landscape.

The park offers diverse biological communities in a small area, especially plants. In the park's "gravel fingers" area is a type of forest cover usually found hundreds of miles north.

Also seen each spring and autumn are thousands of birds migrating along the Atlantic and Mississippi flyways to the converging point on the park's sandy peninsula. As early as March and April, hundreds of waterfowl can be observed off the point as they wait for lakes further north to thaw. As the weather warms, shore birds and song-birds become increasingly common. Most birds continue on to the forests of northern Ontario, but many others stay to nest on the system of offshore island sanctuaries that harbour thousands of gulls and terns every season.

The park's museum of natural history at Lighthouse Point has two floors of exhibits and aquariums, complete with a small indoor theatre to help campers understand and be more aware of the natural history of the park.

During July and August, five naturalists lead thirteen guided nature walks and canoe trips and prepare seven evening

Editorial

This is directed to motorists who annually take thousands of lives on Canada's highways.

One of them may be your neighbour, local businessman or even yourself. It's not easy to detect these people whose cars are instruments of death. They seldom show any sign of remorse and they are never punished.

The chief causes of this loss of life are an obsession for speed and inattention. They apparently feel that one life more or less is unimportant if they can shorten their trip by two or three minutes. They also don't want to miss any of the conversation of their passengers or fail to switch stations on the radio even if they aren't always sure what's on the road ahead.

Their victims - can't speak for themselves and no one will ever take their killers to court, so perhaps these drivers don't mind if they leave a body or two on the road. Perhaps they think, if they think at all, that roads were designed for cars and nothing - or no one else.

These same drivers probably stop for school buses and are careful to obey most of the traffic laws. Some of them will even brag that they've never been caught speeding. The lives they take are of little consequence to them as long as they don't dent a fender. These people, of course, aren't all bad, some of them are very conscientious about not littering the roads. They wouldn't throw garbage out the window, but if they grind a body into the pavement, they'll say it couldn't be helped.

Canadian wildlife and domestic pets, the defenceless victims of this slaughter deserve a better fate. To die under the wheels of a car is a horrible and unnatural death. You may feel that the death of a dog, ground hog or skunk is no reason for concern. Some day one of our children may die a similar death and all of us will feel saddened.

I, for one, am saddened now.

Christ Church, Tyendinaga was lovely scene of the marriage of Elenor Sager and Mr. Perry Pyke of Port Hope. The bride was given away by her son of a former marriage. The bride was lovely in a two-piece aqua gown and wore a corsage of pink carnations. The maid of honour, a sister of the groom wore a pale blue chiffon gown and in her hair, white ribbons. Rev. C. Betts performed the ceremony. A reception was held at the Community Centre with dancing in the evening to the music of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith of Belleville. Out-of-town guests were from Ottawa, Foulton, N.Y., Hamilton, Port Hope and Belleville.

Miss Stella Brant's guest this week has been her niece, Mrs. Betty Stolar of Whitby, Ont.

Picnic guests at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Maracle were Mr. and Mrs. Lennox Hill, their daughter and granddaughter of Shannonsville and Mrs. Leah Bartram and Miss Stella Brant.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Maracle were dinner guests, Sunday evening at the home of Miss S. Brant.

Tyendinaga Senior Citizens are holding their annual strawberry Social, Thursday, June 26 at 6 PM. Members free, guests-$1.00, members are asked to bring sandwiches or shortcake.

Letters to the Editor

This is in regard to an article in last week's paper.

The Mohawk Seniors of Deseronto should have read Tyendinaga Senior Citizens Club 503 of the reserve. The grant was not requested for a social centre, but for kitchen cupboards and plumbing and electrical work in addition to craft materials.

The program itself had already been started when the grant was being discussed. Quilting and other needle work have been done since the club was organized two and one-half years ago. Crafts were organized but hadn't started to operate.

Sam Clark was not appointed Project Officer, he was appointed Chairman of a committee of ten to request a grant. This grant is the responsibility of the committee treasurer Gordon Brant and the other committee members.

The convenors for various projects are; Mrs. Myrtle Iulig, Mrs. Ruby Maracle, Mrs. Iva Maracle and Mrs. Eva Maracle.

The president of our club is Mr. Albert Maracle; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Eva Maracle; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Iva Maracle; sect., Mrs. Marjorie Hill; cor. sect., Mrs. Myrtle Iulig; treas., Mrs. Ileen Green.

For the past six years that I have been involved with recreation in Deseronto, I have always felt that we have not been getting the full support of the townspeople. Therefore I would like to give my opinion on why our young people should be given a chance to perform in the sports that are available to them. It is a well known fact that youngsters who are properly supervised in sports are better prepared not only physically, but mentally and scholastically for whatever lies ahead.

So once again if we want our children to grow up and become good citizens, I urge you one and all to support our sports and recreation programs.

George Barker

ED. NOTE - The information for the article in the Scanner was taken from a government release and a note from Mr. Clark. We apologize to the Tyendinaga Senior Citizens Club for any misconception caused by the article.

HAPPENINGS

BY Mrs. Kay Hood

The Deseronto Red Cross met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Cochrane on Monday, June 16. There were 12 members present and all enjoyed a most delicious pot luck supper around 6:30 PM. This was followed by the meeting, with Mrs. George Lyons, president, in charge. She opened with the Lord's Prayer in unison and then thanked the hostess for so graciously opening her home for the meeting. Minutes were read and approved. No meeting was held in May, but 8 members attended the Red Cross Convention held in Kingston. Mrs. Gordon Walker, reporting for Women's Work Committee, said there were a number of articles made by members, including 3 afghans and 2 rugs. These are sent to headquarters in Toronto to be sold in Red Cross gift shops, and the money sent where needed. Mrs. Kay Hood reported cards were sent for senior citizen's birthdays and to patients in hospital. Mrs. Leo Palmer was happy to say there was nothing to report on the Disaster Committee. Mrs. Jean Griffiths, for the loan cupboard, said a few articles were on loan. She said some of the firemen have offered to help put up hospital beds and help with mattresses, at the Red Cross rooms, for which everyone is grateful. Treasurer's report was given. No meetings will be held during July and August, but will begin again on the second Wednesday in September. After the meeting was adjourned, Mrs. Cochrane entertained with several numbers on the organ. A few ladies joined her in singing the old songs. Everyone enjoyed hearing her play and all thanked her for the lovely evening.

Any one who attended the "Quinte Beach" Tea and Sale on Tuesday, June 17, were treated to a very pleasant afternoon. They were served tea and fancy squares by very polite young ladies. A bake table and large display of crafts attracted quite a number of buyers. The articles were very beautifully made by the patients with some help from staff members.

Charlene and Joey Griffiths of Barrie, are spending two weeks with their grandmother, Mrs. Jean Griffiths.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Allison of Demarestville spent Thursday with Mrs. Sam Geddes.

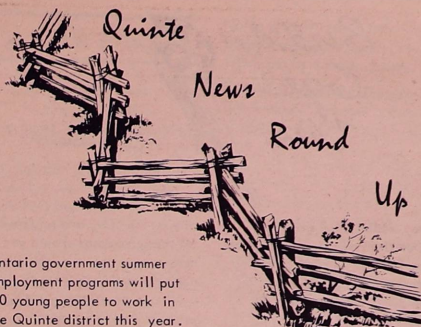

I've heard many comments about how glad people are to have the Scanner back. Please help this column by giving me your news, personals, Women's groups etc. by Monday noon. It's impossible to get in touch with everyone. Phone 396-2119 or send to 172 Mill St. Deseronto.

Ontario government summer employment programs will put 150 young people to work in the Quinte district this year.

Under the title of Ontario Experience '75, the program, through various government ministries will employ more than 7,500 young people in the province. The work assignments include jobs with conservation authorities, police departments, museums and libraries. More than 70 jobs will be provided in the Belleville-Trenton and Hastings county area.

Twenty-thousand muskie fingerlings have been planted in the Moira River below the Roslin dam, in an effort to continue the fine fishing offered by the river. Moira River Conservation authorities have also planted 1,000 trout in the O'Hara Mill pond.

Rural women are urging the federal government to change income tax laws so they can be paid for their labour on farms. The change would allow unincorporated farmers and small businessmen to pay wages for labour and deduct the cost from the husbands' annual income tax as well as provide basis for payments from the Canada Pension Plan.

Hey ladies, there could be good times ahead. Elma, that's the wife, is all ready planning how she is gonna take trips to the city, buy cloths and the like. Its on account of this thing by the Federated Womans Instituts. (Ed. Note- We couldn't let this pass, it should be the Federated Women's Institute.) They want the government in Ottawa to make it so farm wives get paid for their work.

There's 55,000 of 'em and they should pack a heap of wallop. Them folks in Ottawa better give a listen to what these ladies want. Cause there ain't nothin harder to gentle than a farm wife when she's mad. The only thing is if all the ladies get to thinkin like Elma well there could be some grief for them and the other husbands.

Elma knows the amount of the minnum wage and she says she should get a lot more.

She set me down and told me all the reasons she should get more'n me and fact is she's got a powerful argument.

She says she's got 43 years of workin for me and she's had a hand in more things than me. She's done man's work right long side of me as well as the other. She wants to be paid as field hand, cleanin lady, cook and mother. Now I didn't mind the others but being paid for motherin' got my back up. Elma said that my bein a father only took a minute but she's been a mother over 40 years.

So the way its come out she's to get more'n me. Now I only need a bit for my tobacco and a drop at the legion now and then but still I don't know. Then again if it smooths Elma's feathers I guess I'll let it lay. Cause we all know that with what us farmers are gettin now we sure better given it to the wife than to politicians.

Classification changes made

The Holstein-Friesian Association has received numerous requests regarding its changes in policy for type classification.

The policy, effective in September, 1975 means that all cows imported into Canada on or after September 1, 1975 that have not been previously classified on or after their fifth birthday, must be offered to a Canadian classifier for classification. The September date, therefore, is the date of effectiveness for both the time of importation and the time of re-classification.

The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada will not re-classify USA cattle imported prior to September 1, 1975 unless the owner requests it.

The date September 1, 1975 was chosen because it is the start of the next round for classification in Canada.

programs each week at the park amphitheatre.

During May and June the park operates an elementary school outdoor education program. To assist teachers, there are five naturalists on staff who operate this program designed to introduce everyone to the natural history of Presqu'île. Schools are also invited to use the park resources for orienteering, camping or nature study any other time of the year.

Presqu'île, which has been operating for over 30 years has 500 campsites set in among the trees and sand dunes, completely serviced with comfort stations and central water supply systems. There is a boat launching area and a two mile long sand beach well-kept by park workers.

BASEBALL

By George Barker

E.O.B.A. MIDGET BASEBALL

The Deseronto Royals played host to a never-say-die team from Port Hope, last Sunday afternoon.

The game was tied 1-1 up to the sixth inning of play with Port Hope at bat. There were two out and two men on base. The batter hit a lazy pop fly to the left fielder and this is where lots of hustle pays off. Both runners immediately broke off the bags and headed for home. The left fielder got set to make the catch but he didn't make a clean catch and it bounced free and hit the ground. The runners, who had already made the turn, crossed the plate with the winning run before the left fielder could pick up the loose ball and make a play at home. The rest of the game was routine and another tough loss was recorded for the Deseronto squad.

SOUTH HASTINGS LEAGUE

The Deseronto A's outfitted in new uniforms purchased by the Deseronto Athletic Assn., travelled to Foxboro last Wednesday, only to go down to defeat by a score of 5-4 to the Foxboro Merchants.

The A's went ahead in the second inning on a double by Dave Breault, a sacrifice by Camron Brant and a single by the pitcher Steve Heffernan. Foxboro took a 2-1 lead in the third, but by the sixth inning it was all tied 3-3. However by the top of the eighth, Foxboro took the lead again by a 5-4 score.

Then the plate umpire took over! With Foxboro at bat and two out and two men on base, the game was called because of darkness. I say here and now the sun had not yet dipped behind the trees. I think he read the line-up and knew Deseronto had the meat of the batting order coming up in the persons of Ray Lee, Wayne Brant, Steve Alkenbrack and Dave Breault. These guys can hit the ball a country mile.

Gardens versus the bug

We are pleased to bring you a series of articles on gardens and gardeners by biologist, Mary Taylor. If you have any questions about gardening, send them in and Mrs. Taylor will try to help out.

Insects have been around on this earth for a long time. When I was a high school student I learned that there are more known kinds of insects than all other forms of animal life put together. Not only are there a lot of them, they are capable of producing more at phenomenal rates. A single female insect can produce many hundreds of eggs in one season. For centuries, insects were man's main enemies competing with him for his crops, both wild and cultivated.

During the Second World War it seemed as though we were well on the way to winning the battle of the bug. It was during the war years that the miracle chemical DDT was discovered and first put to use. It looked as though all our troubles were over, a single spraying of the stuff meant death to countless thousands of insects. However, not only did DDT kill the harmful insects, it also killed those insects which under natural conditions would eat them. Using DDT was something like bombing a city, killing not only enemy troops but harmless women and children too. Man also under-estimated the ability of insects to adapt to changing conditions. I mentioned earlier that insects can breed at fantastic rates. The faster a creature can reproduce, the faster changes can be made in its characteristics. This means in practical terms that insects with their rapid reproductive rates are capable of developing resistant strains to poisons much faster than "higher" animals. I have read that the common American field mosquito is now immune to all the usual insecticides and this may well be true. In order to keep ahead in the race, man has to keep producing more poisonous chemicals to control insect pests.

Most of these chemicals are really poisonous, not only to the insects they are intended to kill but also to other forms of life, including man himself. This was clearly proved in the case of DDT, but there are now even nastier chemicals on the market. Many of these chemicals do not break down into harmless substances quickly, which means that every time you eat garden produce which has been sprayed, you stand a good chance of eating a very small amount of poison. It is hard to tell what these repeated small doses might do to our health in future. Not only are chemical pesticides dangerous, they are also expensive, most of them requiring oil. If commercial apple growers spray at the rates recommended by the Department of Agriculture this year, they will have to increase the price of their apples to meet their increased costs. Thus the consumer pays for the poisons he eats.

Many people are questioning the use of pesticides on garden produce now, for both reasons, and are taking pains to buy non-sprayed produce or grow their own. These are the people that this column is written for. The folks who like to grow their own vegetables and flowers. If you are looking for advice about what to spray on your garden next, then don't look here! Under really dire circumstances I might recommend the use of rotenone (derris dust) or pyrethrum, both naturally occurring substances that quickly break down into harmless compounds. There is a tendency to regard non-pesticide users as part of the lunatic fringe. Be that as it may, I'm firmly convinced that there are better ways to tackle this particular problem, and I will be discussing them in later articles.
